Services

SUNDAYS AT 9 & 11 AM

Worship is what we were made for and worship is what our weekend services are all about. There is so much about God to worship and there are so many ways to do it. Our service includes music and singing, hearing and learning from God's Word, as well as thanking God and giving to His work.

Conversational ASL interpretation is available at the 9:00 a.m. service and headphones are available at all services for those who are hard of hearing — just ask an usher for assistance.

JOIN THE WORSHIP & PRODUCTION TEAM!

Help make the weekend services worshipful and powerful! Has God gifted you as a keyboardist, drummer, or bassist, or are you willing to help with camera, lights, and sound? Join the worship and production team!

NIGHT OF PRAYER

+ worship

SEPTEMBER 11 | 6 – 8 PM | WORSHIP CENTER

Plans have been made for an impactful fall semester but first, we are commanded to submit them to the Lord (James 4:15). Scripture teaches us that God knows what we need before we ask (Matthew 6:8). God delights to be asked humbly for big things (James 5:16–17). Since a genuine move of God's Spirit is what we are looking for, we are calling an all-church prayer meeting and time of worship to kick off the semester.

THE INTENDED AUDIENCE FOR THIS EVENT IS HIGH SCHOOL AGE AND UP.

In our culture, we're in a fight for the dictionary definitions of man and woman. Because God created man and woman, marriage, and the biblical family, it's not just a fight for a definition—it's a fight for God's glory. The devil has hated everything beautiful that God ever made, so he has made an effort to erode every part of God's design for the family in our modern era. As Christians, we are called to be the salt of the earth and light in the darkness (Matthew 5:13-14). That requires us to have the courage and love to tell people the Truth about what it means to be a man and a woman, what marriage is, and God's design for the family. No matter your stage of life—single or married, a student or a parent—this conference is for you. Know God's call for you to be a man or woman, find what kind of spouse you should be joined with, discover His perfect design for the unique roles of husband and wife in the marriage covenant, and learn His commands about raising children in the fear and admonition of the Lord.

UNLESS THE LORD Builds The House

●● You yourselves like living stones are being built up as a spiritual house, to be a holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God through Jesus Christ.

1 Peter 2:5

As I write this article, work crews are under way on the cluster of remodeling projects that are enhancing the beauty and improving the audio and lighting quality of the sanctuary in our Worship Center. Over the later summer and fall months you will see these being implemented week by week. I am eager to see how these changes will make our sanctuary more aesthetically beautiful and lift our senses to match the awe and wonder which should be felt when we come together to worship God.

It is a large project depending on many people's skills and gifts, for which we are grateful. I am reminded of the artisans who were specially empowered in the Old Testament by the Holy Spirit to craft His house with quality and beauty. You can visit cathedrals in Europe which were built with the same kind of vision. Though those buildings still stand, the congregations that erected them have long since died. This is not an indictment of creating a building to God's glory; it should be a testimony to be even more diligent about the vitality and beauty of the "people house" of God.

More than the physical changes to our building, I am eager to see how we as God's "people house" are going to see a season of spiritual remodeling! This spiritual remodeling process is also called discipleship. Jesus is risen and alive on His throne, and from that throne He is still making and growing His disciples—all of us. This internal spiritual work is accomplished by His Holy Spirit alive in us. God has a grand vision for His work in our lives, more than we can ask or imagine. One of my favorite authors, C.S. Lewis, describes it this way:

"Imagine yourself as a living house. God comes in to rebuild that house. At first, perhaps, you can understand what He is doing. He is getting the drains right and stopping the leaks in the roof and so on: you knew that those jobs needed doing and so you are not surprised. But presently He starts knocking the house about in a way that hurts abominably and does not seem to make any sense. What on earth is He up to? The explanation is that He is building quite a different house from the one you thought of—throwing out a new wing here, putting on an extra floor there, running up towers, making courtyards. You thought you were being made into a decent little cottage: but He is building a palace. He intends to come and live in it Himself."

Remember, all of this is God's work, and unless the Lord builds the house, those who build it labor in vain (Psalm 127:1). The same Spirit that brought this new birth (Titus 3:5) will always have more to do in us. His work will be finished when we have the same inner character of holiness that Jesus Christ has. That is a long way to go! The good news is that it is His work, and He doesn't sleep or slumber. The work will keep going until we are complete (Phil. 1:6). This is what the Christian life is, a life of growing more and more in holiness in our thinking, our desires, and our lifestyle. God is making us more beautiful to Him and making Himself more beautiful to us.

This fall, we are asking God to build us up together in a special way. We are asking God to bring more people into Christianity, new living stones into His house. On Sundays, we will be in the book of 1 Peter, learning about how to grow in holiness together under pressure. Our men will study the ministry of Nehemiah and women the life of Rahab. Alongside Alpha on Wednesday nights, I will be teaching a new course called Planted, about how to experience a spiritually vital walk with God in the classic truths of the faith. We will be renewing our vision and commitment to being a church of smaller Fellowship Groups. I hope that the opportunities our team is creating here this fall will be a place where God meets you and grows you up.

With Love,

Pastor Seth McCoy

JARS OF OIL OVERFLOWING

Second Kings chapter four speaks of a widow who came to Elisha the prophet in desperation because she was in debt, and to settle her account, the creditor was coming to enslave her two boys. Elisha knew she couldn't pay the debt; the cost was far too high, but he asked her what she did have. The widow responds that she has just a jar of oil. That's all. In a strictly economic world, the widow's jar of oil would never satisfy her debt to redeem her sons from the bonds of slavery, but she had a need and was willing to do whatever it took. So, Elisha tells her two things. First, he tells her to surrender all she has, and second, to borrow some jars because she will need to prepare for this little bit of oil to start overflowing in abundance.

Trinity Preparatory School was birthed by a small group of parents who remained after a classical Christian school announced it was closing its doors. This small number of dedicated parents desired that their children grow up grounded in the Truth of the Bible and equipped with a robust education. These moms and dads worked all day, each at their careers, and then at night (often through the night) intricately planning and carefully preparing to birth a brand new kindergarten through twelfth-grade school.

These parents were committed to shepherding their children the way the Lord was leading, requiring a great deal of faithfulness. They did not know what September would bring or if any of their work would amount to a fruitful school, but they committed to praying fervently and tending faithfully to what needed to be done each day. Days turned into weeks, weeks into seven months, and before they knew it, Trinity Preparatory School opened its doors in September 2015.

During this enormous faith journey, the founding families of Trinity came to see that, much like the widow in 2 Kings, the oil that never runs out is Christ—He is sufficient. The Lord's hand at work in Trinity has become a beautiful theme unfolding over the last eight years. Whether it was the space needed to host the school, hiring qualified and eternally-minded staff, the increase and growth of the student body, or the strength of the community among the students and families, the stories over the years are a memorial of the Lord's provision.

God called the founding families of Trinity to plan carefully and intentionally as they paved the way for a brand new school for a reason. Trinity has a multidimensional, yet clear calling. They desire to develop students' love of learning, critical thinking, and rhetorical skills. In partnership with parents, they cultivate the moral formation of hearts and minds to live out the virtues of goodness, beauty, and Truth in service to God. Trinity Preparatory School reflects the concepts of classical Christian education, built on the belief that parents should steward children's lives in a way that honors and brings glory to God.

A term often found in descriptions of classical Christian education is paideia, a Greek word that can be challenging to define since there is no exact English translation. Paul uses the word paideia in Ephesians 6:4 when instructing fathers on bringing up their children in the discipline and instruction of the Lord. It encompasses raising and educating in a way that shapes the soul of a child, or as the Association of Classical Christian Schools describes it, "adding an element of the heart to the education of the mind." Classical Christian education is a holistic approach to preparing a child for life. With this approach, the purpose of a kindergarten boy's education expands to "carry more significance than just what kind of college he will get into at 18, but what kind of man he will be at 80" (ACCS). Because of the biblical focus of this rigorous educational philosophy, the value of academics is elevated since God has given us our intellect, and we are called to steward it well.

Classical schooling is about nourishing a student's mind to promote curiosity, a love of learning, and an integration of all disciplines. Many of the ways classical Christian schools implement their disciplines have been influenced by Dorothy Sayers' essay "The Lost Tools of Learning." Her research discusses how children learn best using the Trivium method. Rooted in the Middle Ages, the Trivium method encourages learning that parallels child development in three stages: grammar, logic, and rhetoric. From learning and absorbing as much information as possible in elementary school, to understanding and arguing in middle school, and finally stating beliefs with conviction in high school, this method honors the Father by educating children according to their frame.

This kind of education rightly orders God as the source of all things and believes that life works best when He is the lens through which we see everything else. In many ways, a classical Christian education not only regains a love of learning but also uncovers our affections. When we properly prioritize our affections with biblically grounded Truth and our chief end is to glorify God, lives are transformed—when lives are transformed, entire cultures can change.

As believers, we desire to be a part of that change and embrace where the Lord is on the move. Here at Fellowship, we first saw the opportunity to dream about education like this with a few people in some casual conversations. Then through circumstances that only God could have orchestrated, it became clear to leadership at Fellowship Alliance that hosting Trinity Preparatory School on our campus could significantly advance the gospel in our young people, families, and community.

Trinity's principal, Ron Burrows, said, "When Fellowship Alliance opened their hearts and doors to us, we knew we were in the company of people who wanted to further our mission of bringing Classical, Christ-centered education to Christian families. I believe the future will provide many opportunities for us to grow together as we keep our eyes on Jesus and serve Him humbly, seeking to prepare the next generation to serve our Savior and see the world with a biblical worldview."

During this time of transition, as a congregation we can be most supportive by praying for unity and a shared vision that is in line with the Lord's plan and will. Mr. Burrows also shared ways we can pray specifically for Trinity: "Our curriculum is described as 'pleasantly rigorous.' This means that our teachers are always preparing and employing ways to challenge the students to learn and to be able to present and defend the Truth in which they believe. We truly covet your prayers for our students and teachers as they teach and learn about God and all of His creation."

Trinity Preparatory School invites you to come and experience firsthand what they are doing: Christmas and springtime concerts, an upper school Thesis Night, and a Living History Night, where the students will present what they are learning and living!

FELLOWSHIP MEN

Starting Thursday, September 15 | 7:00–8:30 PM
Fellowship Center | Register Online

There was a time when society turned away from the Lord and saw that life crumbles apart without Him. At that time, God called a man, Nehemiah, to rally the men to fight the good fight and rebuild faithfulness in the minds and hearts of the people, who then rebuilt the walls of their civilization. Rebuilding always happens in the minds and hearts of the people before it happens in the streets. So, if you think that you could use a rallying of men and a rebuilding of your faith in the Lord, this study is for you.

FELLOWSHIP GROUPS

God's work in our lives is too big to be accomplished only on Sundays. To build on what God is doing in our church through Sunday worship, we have networks of smaller groups that are the backbone of our church. In both cases, God has authored every day of our lives, so He grows us through our troubles, accomplishing His good purposes even through really hard days—giving us unshakeable hope. Others who have grown through these same troubles lead the groups by looking to God's Word for the Truth and way to new life.

To become a Christian is to receive a whole new life—a cleansed life. This event is so important in a person's life it should be celebrated in front of everyone, and that's what baptism is. Jesus commanded us to be baptized. To be baptized, you have to be a Christian. At a minimum, every true Christian holds beliefs in the Apostles' Creed, which is the oldest and most basic statement of faith in Christianity. We will help you understand the tenets of the Apostles' Creed to affirm your faith. This baptism class is designed to help you learn more about the baptism process, study biblical baptism, and answer your questions before the baptism services on November 20. To register for the baptism class, please visit myfac.org/baptism.

Contact: Glenn Kantner, glenn@myfac.org

If you do not attend the baptism class, right before the baptism service, a person who has already been baptized will be available to help you confirm your beliefs. If you have a child seeking to be baptized, we have a parents' guide so that you can talk to your child.

NEW TO FELLOWSHIP?

As a church, fellowship is in our name, and it is at the core of who we are. Our fellowship is called together by God, knit together by the Holy Spirit, and tasked with the sacred mission to proclaim and follow Christ. We pray you are able to encounter the life-giving truth of the gospel and become interwoven within our Fellowship Alliance family.
